No Ammo Hauling Action Set

Meeting Gathers Opinions

Solon Council Studies Problem

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

After three hours of discussion at a statewide meeting called by Gov. Robert Crosby at request of the Omaha Safety Council to consider how hauling of explosive materials could be made more safe, no program of action was decided upon.

Opinions stated to which there was no rebuttal:

1. Transporting of explosive materials is dangerous.
2. Everybody expressed willingness to cooperate to reduce hazards to the minimum.
3. The human equation enters into all accidents.
4. There is no way to evaluate the hazards caused by different forms of transportation.
5. Many other types of accidents cause more fatalities than transportation of hazardous materials.

A Legislative Council committee studying the problems of traffic safety attended and obtained evidence that can be considered in making their recommendations. Sen. O. H. Person of the committee suggested that the trucking industry that they discourage the practice of parking trucks loaded with explosive materials in cities.

Meeting Held To Study Ammo Trucking Problem

The City Council will consider its ordinance restricting transportation of explosives through the city at a special meeting during the week.

After declaring an emergency and passing the ordinance on two readings last week, the Council laid the document over this Monday to await the outcome of a meeting of state officials on the explosives issue.

After attending the state meeting, Mayor Clark Jeary stated that he would recommend the Council pass the ordinance minus the $5 fee to truckers for being conveyed through the city.

The ordinance, he said, will be considered at the same meeting to be called for the approval of bids on a new water reservoir. The ammunition ordinances requires that trucks carrying explosives must stop at a point of entry outside the city and secure a police escort through the town.

The ordinance now includes the charge of a $5 fee for this service. There is some Council feeling against the charge, said Jeary.

20 Lost In Plunge Of Plane

Festive Meeting Of Presidents Dampened By Transport Tragedy

FALCON DAM (AP)—More than 20 persons, including some of Mexico's top newspaper reporters and entertainers, were killed in an airplane crash Monday while enroute to the meeting of U.S. President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mexico's president, Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.

The government-owned DC-3 plane left Monterrey at 7 a.m. with a load of newsmen and officials for Falcon Dam for the meeting of presidents.

The 23-passenger plane, completely wrecked on the side of a deep ravine, was sighted Monday afternoon 16 miles northeast of Monterrey. There apparently were no survivors.

The national fine arts institute listed six male and seven women dancers and three other persons of the Gloria Mestre ballet who were aboard. The dancers were to participate in the entertainment for the presidents.

The airline carrying officials, entertainers and reporters to the dam had planes taking off every few minutes, and no full records were kept of who went in the plane.

The pilot, Ruben Velasco, and two other crew members were among the dead.

A reporter flying over the scene said there were indications the pilot had been flying in a haze and became trapped in a ravine. He said it looked as though he was trying to climb out of the 400-foot deep ravine and almost made it, but crashed 30 feet from the top.

The nose of the plane appeared completely wrecked, and was partly burned.

Ike Helps Dedicate 5-Mile Falcon Dam

FALCON DAM (AP)—Three thousand United States and Mexican citizens faced the broiling border sun and cheered Monday as their presidents dedicated a great new dam to their peace and wealth.

Artillery pieces belloyed a 21-gun salute as the chiefs of state returned to their own nations at 3 p.m. (EST).

Presidents Eisenhower and Adolfo Ruiz Cortines both spoke of the five-mile Falcon Dam as a strong link in the enduring friendship of both.

Eisenhower wound up the dedication with a denunciation of totalitarianism in any form and a promise of friendship and concern for the well-being of all neighbor American nations.

The dam lines the United States and Mexican borders at the mouth of the Rio Grande. The rich lands of citrus and vegetable farms it was built to irrigate and protect from flood.

Prosperity

The brilliant sun struck gleaming silver light from a V-shaped stainless steel shaft that marks the border about a third of the way over from the United States side. Flags of both nations flanked the shaft.

President Ruiz Cortines, speaking first, said in Spanish the dam is above all "a source of prosperity for a vast group of human beings—men, women and children—without distinction of nationality, race language or religion."

President Eisenhower called the stark gray dam "living testimony to the understanding and co-operation binding our two peoples."

Immediately after the dedication, President Eisenhower said citizens of both the United States and Mexico should try and build a better good neighbor policy. The remarks were made in a three-minute, informal speech to several thousand persons at the Texas terminus of the dam. The president then went by automobile to Laredo and left by plane for Washington.

The President's plane landed at the Military Air Transport Service terminal at 12:40 a.m. (EST). The President headed immediately for the White House.

From the top of the dam, as he looked upriver toward Laredo, Tex., and Nuevo Laredo, Mex., President Eisenhower could just see the church tower of the old Texas village of Falcon. The gray lake covers the rest of the town.

Cost Of Things Farmer Buys Will Stay High, But Price Of Things He Produces May Average Slightly Lower In Coming Year, Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—That cost-price "squeeze" the farmers are in this year—with costs of things they buy still high but the prices of farm goods they sell still down—will likely continue in 1954, the Agriculture Department said Monday night.

The department said the cost rates for farm production items have eased off slightly in 1953 and some further decline is probable in 1954. But it added that prices received by farmers for their products also may average slightly lower next year.

Nebraska Pair Charged With Bank Robbery

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The FBI Monday charged a Nebraska father and his son with using force and violence to take $6,721 from the bank of Kingston, Ark., Oct. 15.

U. S. Commissioner Clifton Wade did not set a date for arraignment.

The defendants are a re Ora Knight, 47, and George Wayne Knight, 22, who told officers they were from Nebraska but refused to say from what place.

Despite the Knights' own reticence, Benton County Sheriff John Black said after their arrest that they were from Roca, Neb.

The men were captured less than two hours after the bank holdup, in which cashier Wilson Bunch was left tied with baling wire.

Officers recovered only $2,544 of the $7,155 reported stolen.

Car Hits, Kills Hebron Boy

HEBRON, Neb. (AP)—Jerry Jackson, a Thayer County farm lad between 6 and 7 years of age, was killed Monday evening when struck by a car, Sheriff Herb Schoenfeld reported.

The sheriff said the boy, who was on his way to school, was apparently darted across the highway into the path of a car driven by Jim Kinmer, 30, of Hebron and was killed instantly.

Schoenfeld said the accident occurred at the Jackson farm home about 7 1/2 miles south of Hebron on U.S. highway 81. He explained that the farm buildings are on the east side of the road and the farmhouse is on the west. The car was traveling north toward Hebron, and the boy ran from behind a car parked in the ditch beside the road.

The sheriff said only a 10-year-old sister was at home with him at the time.

The boy's death was the 280th on Nebraska highways this year compared with 280 at this time in 1952.

Iowa Students Erupt Again In Day-Off Demand

AMES, Ia. (AP)—Iowa State College students erupted again Monday night in a new demand for a day off from classes to celebrate last Saturday's homecoming football victory.

The students poured out of dormitories and organized houses about 10 p.m. (CST).

No injuries were reported.

A huge bonfire was started on U. S. 30—the transcontinental Lincoln highway—which passes the campus, blocking the artery for the second straight night.

Shouts of "we want Tuesday off" could be heard as the students milled around the bonfire and near Friley Hall, a large men's dormitory.

Earlier Monday peace returned to the sprawling campus, which Sunday night had seen about 4,000 students demonstrate while police tossed tear gas bombs into the milling crowd.

Nebraskan Said Missing On Flight

BANGOR, Maine (AP)—Two Dow AFB pilots, 2nd Lt. Edward J. Kostal, 23, Ravenna, Neb., and 1st Lt. Francis T. Hambley, 3rd, Hempstead, N. Y., are reported missing on training flights in the far east, Dow's public information office disclosed Monday night.

Fire Chiefs

Prior to the meeting, state fire chiefs meeting in Omaha discussed the problem and William Cox, Pierce, reported that the smaller towns of the state "don't want big city troubles dumped on them."

He said the fire chiefs urged that both rails and trucks use clearer marking of cargoes and that trucks be provided with more adequate fire extinguishers.

Cox praised the regular "over-the-road" drivers but said difficulty has been experienced with drivers of leased tractors hauling trailers of the trucking firms. He also complained that four or five trucks would park together in a small town while the drivers ate.

Ballenger Is Found Guilty In Mail Fraud Case, Gets 3 Years

Dean W. Ballenger, 40, Havelock businessman, was found guilty in Federal District Court here of use of the mails with intent to defraud and was sentenced to serve three years in a penitentiary.

The eight-man and four-woman jury deliberated a little more than five hours and returned its verdict at 4 p.m. Monday. Ballenger's attorneys said there was no indication at this time they would appeal the finding.

In his instructions to the jury Monday morning Judge John Delehant said the jury should specifically consider the intent of the advertising and consequent letters Ballenger sent to prospective advertising salesmen, and should not consider alone the legality of the contracts they signed with Ballenger.

Ballenger took the verdict calmly as it was read by the clerk of the court. Judge Delehant asked for comment from either the prosecution, headed by John Deming, and assistant district attorney, and Max Towe, Ballenger's counsel.

Towe said he was so "disturbed" by the decision that he had nothing to say. Joe Wishart, also counsel for Ballenger, said he also had been impressed with Ballenger's administrative ability, and that in looking back during the time the manuals in question were being published he thought it was "never the type of thing that had a criminal mind in it."

Actually, Ballenger was found guilty of intent to commit fraud by use of the mails on 17 counts, involving each of the salesmen who applied to sell advertising on the cover of farm guide manuals.

Judge Delehant dismissed five of the 22 charges against Ballenger.

The judge's sentence was three years on each of 17 counts, but he decreed that the sentences would run concurrently. The maximum penalty on each of the counts could have meant an 85-year sentence. Judge Delehant tented out, however, that he has never been disposed to pronounce sentences which arise from the same set of circumstances, consecutively.

The government had charged that Ballenger had misled the people answering the newspaper ads that they would be guaranteed a job paying $85 a week and that they would have exclusive territorial rights.

The defense claimed that no guarantee of salary was made, and that no prospective salesmen ever were told that they would have exclusive rights to sell in any geographical area.

4 Are Missing In Navy Plane Crash

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—A U. S. Navy two-engine patrol bomber from Quonset Point, R.I., with 10 crewmen aboard crashed with a terrific explosion in St. Georges Harbor Monday night.

The Navy in a communique said six of the crewmen were rescued and taken to a hospital at the U. S. Air Force's Kindley Field.

The plane was on a training flight, and intended to remain overnight at Kindley Field before proceeding to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Eyewitnesses said the plane passed over Kindley with its right engine ablaze. They said the pilot pulled up, and apparently was trying to gain altitude when the plane stalled and crashed tail first.

Exeter Woman Dies, 5 Hurt Near Geneva

GENEVA, Neb. (AP)—Mrs. Votipka of Exeter was killed and five other persons were injured, five of them seriously, in an intersection collision south of Geneva late Monday. Mrs. Votipka was about 50 years of age.

Her death was the fourth traffic fatality in Fillmore County this month and the 25th in Nebraska this year, compared with 280 deaths at this time last year.

Deputy Sheriff Marvin Asseln said the cars collided at an intersection of Highway 74 and a county road seven miles east and three miles south of Geneva. He said he believed sunlight in the eyes of Mrs. B. J. Bukacek, 48, of Wichita, driver of one of the cars, was a factor in the accident.

Mrs. Votipka was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Mrs. Bukacek was returning to Wichita after attending burial services for her husband, Dr. Bukacek, in Lincoln. With her were her daughter, Beverly, 17; her son, Donald, 13; and her sister, Mrs. Betty Young, 51, of Wichita.

Of the six injured, all but Donald Bukacek, were seriously hurt, Asseln said. They were taken to a Geneva hospital.

Double A Rating Given Water Bond Issue By New York Firm

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The City Council has a legal snag which stopped it from giving the expected approval to a $24,469 bond by Roberts Construction Co. for a new 5-million-gallon reservoir at the 51st Street pumping station.

That temporary reversal, however, was more than offset by a report from William I. Aitken, Water Advisory Board member, that Moody's Investors Service of New York has given Lincoln's $6.5 million water bond issue a double A rating.

Informed of the news by phone from New York, Aitken stated, "Of course, we are all very happy about it. In looking at bond circulars across the nation, I have seen very few single A ratings."

"I can't remember of seeing one double A rating of revenue bonds. The normal high rating by Moody's is single A while their ratings run generally all the way from B to double A."

"Byron Dunn (chairman of the Advisory Board and Lincoln banker) has advised me that he believes the rating will save the city some $100,000 in interest rates."

Aitken noted that the rating should mean more competitive bidding. There are some bond buying firms, he said, that bid on bonds according to certain set rules.

Some of those houses, he said, make it a rule to bid only on certain bonds such as those with a double A rating.

"This will mean," said Aitken, "that bond buyers will get right down and sharpen their pencils for the Nov. 9 sale."

The Lincoln issue will be published beginning Tuesday in the Wall Street Journal, Daily Bond Buyer of Chicago and The Lincoln Star.

Commenting on Aitken's report, Mayor Clark Jeary stated,

"This is an outstanding rating. It is a tribute to the very outstanding work done by the Water Advisory Board, the Water Department and Mr. Berg (City Finance Director Theo Berg)."

"I especially want to commend Mr. Aitken and make note of the long hours of work he has put in."

Triple A

"The city has a triple A rating from Moody's on general obligation bonds. That rating, said Dunn, undoubtedly had some effect on the high revenue bond rating."

The legal snag hit on the contract letting for the new reservoir involved the bid of Roberts and the one from Olson Construction Co. The Council failed to approve the low Roberts bid in view of the possibility of interlocking ownership of both companies.

Specifications published before the receiving of bids stated that no two bids would be accepted from the same firm nor could two bids from one firm be submitted under different names.

City Attorney John H. Comstock was unable to determine before the Council adjourned whether interlocking ownership does exist in both firms or not. Comstock is also reviewing the possibility of the Council having the right to waive those sections of the specifications in question.

The Olson Construction Co. bid was third low. Should both Roberts' and Olson's bids be rejected the contract would probably go to Dobson Bros. Construction with its second low bid of $348,746.

Even should Roberts' bid be acceptable, it does not have unanimous Council approval. Councilman Pat Ash told his colleagues he could not vote for the Roberts' bid because of the longer completion time it contained.

Roberts' bid on a 270 day completion period while Dobson bid on a 280 days completion period. The Council said Ash has the responsibility of considering the time element and the extra 70 days would be worth the $4,000 difference in the bids.

The Council did accept the $17,864 bid of the Layne-Western Co. of Omaha for a new stand-by pump at 51st and the $1,345.30 bid of W. E. Dingman for the electrical wiring on the pump.

Later Date

And in anticipation of an increased water supply from Ashland, the Council approved estimates totaling $78,386 for four pumps and necessary materials for the A Street pumping station. Two of these pumps, nine million gallons per day pumping capacity, will be installed inside the pump house to S & H Green Stamps with Meadow Gold Dairy Products. Ask retail route salesman or call 2-6841—Adv.

replace two older and smaller units now in operation.

The other two pumps, one 9 million and one 10 million gallons per day pumping capacities, will be installed adjacent to the A Street reservoir for pumping directly into main distribution lines. All four pumps will not operate at full capacity until more water is available through the new 48 inch transmission line from Ashland.

Also approved by the Council was a $3,000 estimate for replacement of one supply well at Ashland. The overall improvement plan also calls for construction later of a group of new wells.

While City Engineer D. L. Erickson reported to the Council that final plans and specifications for the new 48-inch Ashland main are nearing completion, that structure is not expected to be completed until the summer of 1955. There are two major projects involved—construction of the line and its installation.

High Court Denies Fair Trade Rule

Again Refuses to Give Selling Limit Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, for the second week in a row, Monday refused to rule on the legality of "fair trade" laws which limit cut rate selling by merchants.

Monday's decision rejected an appeal questioning the constitutionality of the McQuire Act of 1932, which put federal teeth into the trade laws of 45 states. All states have such a law except exas, Missouri, Vermont and the District of Columbia.

Under "fair trade" laws a manufacturer may set the retail price of his product. The McQuire Act stipulates that if a manufacturer signs a pricing agreement with any merchant in a state that has a "fair trade" law, all other retailers in the state must abide by it, even if they do not sign the agreement.

Schwegmann Brothers Giant Super Market of New Orleans had questioned the constitutionality of both the McQuire Act and Louisiana's "fair trade" law. The firm appealed a decision of the U.S. District Court in New Orleans ordering Schwegmann to sell insulin made by Eli Lilly & Co. at the "fair trade" price of $2.83 instead of 75 cents.

Last week, the High Court refused to consider an appeal from a Georgia Supreme Court ruling which declared that state's trade law illegal.

Nebraska Case
(Last year action was brought under the Nebraska law by the Elgin Watch Company against Crescent Jewelers in Lincoln to prevent sale of Elgin watches below "fair trade" prices fixed by the company. The action was later dismissed by the watch company without prejudice.)

(Two similar cases are about ready for trial in Douglas County. There were many rumors of plans to attempt to change the Nebraska law at the last session of the Legislature but no bills were introduced. These included plans to re-enact the law as well as attempts to repeal it as many considered it invalid on the basis of the original Georgia decision.)

The Louisiana and Georgia appeals are the only cases involving the McQuire Act to reach the Supreme Court so far, although a flood of suits were filed in lower courts after former President Truman signed the measure last year. In the state of suits manufacturers asked injunctions to compel non-signing retailers to sell at "fair trade" prices.

Community Loyalty Of Harry Dobbins Praised At Rites

Harry T. Dobbins was loyal to his city and community throughout his life. The Rev. R. G. W. Collins, pastor of First-Plymouth Congregational Church, said Monday at funeral services for Mr. Dobbins.

The Rev. Collins also paid tribute to active church life and community life in general led by Mr. Dobbins, longtime Nebraska editor and newspaperman, who died last Thursday.

A veteran of 69 years in the newspaper profession, Mr. Dobbins was associate editor and legislative writer for the Lincoln Evening Journal for many years.

Brother, Sister Die On Same Day

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—John Austin McNeal, 79, a former Sutherland lawyer, and his sister, Georgia E. McNeal, 65, died within a few hours of each other.

McNeal died in Sutherland after a two months' illness. His sister died in a North Platte hospital after an illness of a few days.

McNeal had been living in North Platte since retiring as a rancher.

Lincolnite Named State President

New officers elected and installed at Beatrice by the Ladies Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant, highest of the state IOOF ladies units, were, left to right, Marie Mitchell, Lincoln, president; Grace Johnson, Scottsbluff, vice president; Mrs. Cecil Barker, Auburn, secretary; and Gertrude Swain, Grand Island, treasurer. News Around The Globe

Italy Not Wanted

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Borba, the voice of Communist leaders of Yugoslavia, warned Monday night that Italian occupation of Trieste's zone A "with or without troops is the same thing" and is unacceptable to Yugoslavia.

The declaration "with or without troops" was significant in that there has been much speculation as to what the Yugoslav attitude would be toward control of zone A by Italian police instead of troops. The official newspaper put police and troops in the same category.

Plates Aided Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—S. E. Mundt (R-S.D.) said Monday Communist agents in the government apparently helped Russia get U.S. plates in 1944 to print millions of dollars worth of American occupation currency for use in Germany.

Mundt said the exact amount printed by the Soviets may never be known. He said, however, that 255 million dollars worth of German Marks more than Congress authorized were put in circulation.

Results Predicted

WASHINGTON (INS)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned from London Monday and declared last week's Big Three conference should "produce results" in the free world's effort to achieve peace and security.

Dulles reported that he talks with British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault were "very satisfactory."

Explosion Traced

BOSTON (AP)—A high-ranking Navy officer Monday night confirmed the deduction of Capt. Thomas A. Ahron that an explosion of vaporized catapault hydraulic oil was the cause of a blast which killed 36 and injured dozens of others aboard the aircraft carrier Leyte last Friday.

Conrad Broening, Retired Burlington Shop Worker, Dies

Conrad Broening, 76, died Monday of a heart attack. He had lived in Lincoln since he was about four years old.

Mr. Broening married Myrtle Brown of Lincoln in 1909. They have always lived at 2832 Dudley.

Mr. Broening worked for the Burlington Havelock Shops for 45 years. He retired seven years ago.

He was a member of Zion Congregational Church and Masonic Lodge 210.

Surviving are his wife, one sister, Mrs. Anna Cutts of Bellflower, Calif., and one brother, Henry of Lincoln.

U.S.-Colombian Education Systems Comparison Told

The great difference between the Colombian educational system and that of the U.S. was emphasized by Miss Marie Munoz, a teacher from Colombia, at an Altrusa Club meeting at the University Club Monday night.

Miss Munoz who is studying in this country under an Altrusa grant-in-aid, told the group that the main difference is that "only the very poor in Colombia attend public schools—anyone who can possibly afford it goes to private school."

Another feature of the system in her country, she said, was the fact that, except for kindergarten, all schools are either for boys or girls, and none are co-educational.

H. D. Joyce Dies; Nebraska Native

Howard Donald Joyce, 81, 1732 Washington, died Monday night in a local hospital.

Born in Pickrell, Neb., Sept. 9, 1872, Mr. Joyce was a mechanic and a truck driver. He came to Lincoln in 1936.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Minnie, who died in 1931.

Survivors include a brother, George, Beatrice; three nephews and two nieces.

August Woldemath and Ivan O. Sunderman will serve as hosts.

Filter's Condition Good After 2-Car Accident

Ralph H. Filter, 37, of 5326 Colby was treated in Good Samaritan hospital Monday after he suffered a fractured right shoulder blade in a two-car accident at 21st and Q Sts.

He is being treated at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Driver of the other car was Robert Booser of 669 So. 29, who was headed south on 21st. Filter was driving west when the accident occurred.

National Assistant SCS Chief Holds Closed Door Meet On Benson Policy

Assistant SCS Chief Carl Brown of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, opened confidential talks here Monday with the six state conservationists of the Lincoln region revealing Secretary Benson's preliminary plans and intentions in his projected reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service.

Closely with Brown were H. G. Bobst, chief of the Lincoln region and conservationists E. G. Jones, Nebraska, John Bartruff, Wyoming; Ross Davies, South Dakota; Lyness Lloyd, North Dakota; T. C. Anderson, Montana; and Fred Sykes, Kansas.

What went on behind the closed doors of the first day's conference remained closely guarded but SCS spokesmen expressed hope that by Tuesday "enough of a statement could be made" to give the public at least a rough outline of the new conservation picture.

The detailed information on the reorganization in its final form has been promised by Nov. 1 from Washington. Meanwhile, the Lincoln regional conservationists studied Benson's tentative program in the form it was earlier revealed to the House Agriculture Committee directors of the National Soil Conservation Association and regional SCS chiefs.

The closed door conference here was explained by SCS spokesmen as necessary because of the tentative nature of the reorganization plan which might undergo changes in form and substance before reaching its applicable form.

West Central Co-Op To Build Large Addition To Elevator

The West Central Co-operative Grain Co. of Omaha will build a new addition to its Lincoln elevator which will approximately double the present 2,300,000 capacity, it was announced Monday.

Approval of the project was granted at a stockholders meeting in Omaha.

Aksel W. Nielsen, general manager of the grain company, said bids would be let immediately and it is hoped construction will be completed before next year's harvest. Cost of the two to three million bushel addition has not been determined, he said.

The Lincoln addition would consist of more than 50 round silo-type concrete tanks and intertie bins between the tanks to match the present structure.

Plans contemplate including another high-speed elevator "leg" which would elevate more than 25,000 bushels of grain per hour and a mechanical car dumper. The dumper, which can unload a car of grain every eight minutes, would pick up a car, tip it on its side so the grain would run out the doors, and replace the car in its original position.

J. R. Lacy is manager of the Lincoln elevator.

West Central stockholders also authorized building 300,000 bushels of additional storage space at Kearney.

Three other Lincoln elevators have also received Commodity Credit Corporation approval for building additions. The approvals include 2,241,000 bushels for Equity Union Grain Co., of 940 Calvert, two million bushels for Gooch Milling Co., of 540 South, and 120,000 bushels for Hill Fairchild Feed Co. of 6th and G.

Equity hopes to start its building project early next spring so it will be completed for next year's harvest.

No Plans
Gooch's, which recently acquired additional land west of its present site, has no definite building plans.

L. H. Fairchild of Hill-Fairchild said no definite construction plans have been made by his company. After final approval is secured from the CCC, they will start operations as soon as possible, he said.

In other action at the West Central meeting, Nielsen reported that the company had installed an auditing department last year and had taken over the Nebraska Farmers' Elevator Association including the association's insurance department, the Associated Press reported.

Nielsen said patronage refunds paid member elevators totaled more than $400,000, about $40 per car, of which $100,000 was paid in cash and the balance in stock. West Central again paid 2 per cent dividends.

District directors elected were Ralph Hartcock of Modale, Ia., Iowa district; Dr. J. M. McNally of Bellwood, George Carlson of Sutton and Albert Schroeder of Venango, Nebraska district.

Officers elected by the board of directors were McNally, president; Schroeder, vice president; Walter W. Peterson, secretary; Nielsen, vice president and general manager; L. H. Baer, treasurer and John E. Eidam, general counsel.

More than 500 stockholders, delegates, directors and managers of farmers co-operatives from Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado and Kansas attended the meeting.

In PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

Dr. Ralph Borsodi addressed the "School of Living", in part, as follows:

"The study of problems of living, and of the ideas and methods, the equipment and institutions available for solving them, has been my pre-occupation ever since I wrote my first book on the subject thirty years ago."

"Most of us tend to look for some simple or single solution to this problem: some simple formula; some single program. Yet it ought to be perfectly obvious that life is the most complex thing in the world, and living the most complex of all processes."

"By comparison with the human body and by comparison with the personal and social life of men and women, the most complex mechanical or electrical machine in the world becomes nothing but an uncomplicated appliance. In trying to summarize what I have learned in my studies of living, it becomes plain that for this complex problem, the solution is also complex."

"Only one part of the complex can be reduced to a simple formula. And this part, which has to do with the only method by which we can shift

Policeman Quizzed On Missing Ransom Payment

Questions Center On Suitcases

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The policeman whose work led to the solution of the Greenleaf kidnapping case Monday became the central figure himself in an inquiry into reports the FBI has discovered discrepancies in police accounts of the case.

The investigation conducted by Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell centered around the handling of two suitcases in which nearly half of the $800,000 ransom payment was recovered. Some $300,000 of the payment still is missing.

Police Lt. Louis Shoulders, who arrested the kidnap-killer of Bobby Greenleaf, 6, was under a physician's care for a nervous condition and was reported unable to appear at this time at the closed hearing.

Shoulders, whose ailment was attributed by the physician to the lieutenant's work on the case, withheld from newsmen a full explanation of the reported discrepancies but said:

"Every Move"

"I can explain to the proper authorities every move I made."

Shoulders was excused from questioning Monday as the police chief began the investigation ordered by the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners.

The first to be questioned was Patrolman Elmer Dolan, who accompanied Shoulders the night of Oct. 6 when they arrested Carl Austin Hall, 34, the confessed killer of the boy. Dolan was questioned for several hours.

The arrest of Hall and his partner in the crime, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, followed a tip to Shoulders by taxi driver John Hager that Hall was armed and spending money on a lavish scale.

Also on hand for questioning at the police chief's office were several other officers and employees of the Newstead police district headquarters, where the kidnappers were taken after their arrest. The inquiry was ordered by the police board after published reports the FBI had discovered discrepancies in police reports on the arrests. After a special meeting Sunday, the board announced it will "make every effort to get all the facts as fully in detail as possible, since some questions have been raised."

Czechs, Poles Walk Out On Repatriation Group

PANMUNJOM (Tuesday) (AP) —Angry Czech and Polish members reportedly walked out on the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission Monday, a break that may portend collapse of Communist attempts to persuade 22,400 anti-Red prisoners to return home.

Reliable sources said the two Communist members stalked out when Swiss and Swedish members and the Indian chairman refused to force North Korean prisoners to attend persuasion sessions.

(The Swiss government backed up its delegate, announcing in Bern it had given him "categorical instructions that Switzerland seeks to avoid the use of force under all circumstances.") It said use of force would violate the Geneva Convention.)

A NNRC spokesman refused to confirm or deny the walkout report.

The hour for the regular daily Repatriation Commission session passed today with no delegates on hand for the meeting.

A spokesman said it was not certain there would be a meeting, but declined other comment. Ordinarily the NNRC would have met at 10 a.m. (8 p.m., Monday, EST).

All Red explanation sessions were cancelled Tuesday, as they were Monday. The Communists insisted on talking to 1,000 North Korean prisoners. India said the prisoners could not be persuaded to attend.

Some allied quarters said the Reds might be using the dispute over North Korean prisoners as an excuse to stall off for the time being and perhaps ultimately abandon their explanations.

These sources pointed out the Reds had been taking a propaganda beating so far. They have

Not Too Badly

If the question is: "How are the people of Nebraska doing?"—then the answer is: "Not too badly."

We have a lot in this state to be grateful for. The agricultural record for 1953 in the basis of comparison with neighboring states is good. Nebraska produced one whole of a wheat crop. Its neighbor to the south, Kansas, after harvesting over 300 million bushels of excellent quality wheat in 1952, dropped to an estimated 134 million bushels in 1953, which is an approximate 40 per cent of the record of 1952. Nebraska has fair crops of other small grains, with oats apparently showing the greatest loss.

And this state is harvesting nearly 200 million bushels of corn, substantially below the magnificent outlook in mid-July but nevertheless far from a crop failure.

A year ago last May we were riding through Kansas with Rep. Cliff Hope, the chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. He wanted to know why Nebraska had made so much greater progress in the development of irrigation than has been achieved in his own state.

There are a number of answers. Kansas plants its wheat in the fall, harvests the crop before the real heat of summer hits. And wheat is the unchallenged king of Kansas agriculture. Old Mother Necessity did not serve as a spur to Kansans in developing irrigation nearly as much as she did here in Nebraska. There are other reasons why this state has made outstanding progress in irrigation. The reasons are not so important as common recognition that every farm brought under the irrigation program is a substantial contribution to a stabilized economy. We have a good record in 1953, due in part to the fact that Nebraska's irrigation program is one of the best developed of any in any part of the United States.

The Public Domain

"Since the Eisenhower administration took office, speculation has circulated that Congress might turn back to the states the vast federal public lands," the news columns noted Sunday.

It is not surprising that a so-called middle-of-the-road administration would produce echoes which, if they materialize, would place this country far to the right of the middle of the road. First of all, the language of the news story is open to question. One case should suffice to illustrate. "Wyoming, next (to Nebraska) has 51.6 per cent of its total acreage owned by the federal government. Colorado has 37.4. Nevada has the most with 87.7 and Utah is next with 69.4." Naturally in those states with the largest public domain, a formidable, aggressive element is advocating that Uncle Sam relinquish his title to the federal public domain so that it may pass to the states, and in all likelihood from the states into private hands.

There are some pertinent questions which need answering in order to straighten out some of the confusion that exists today. How long have these lands been public domain? How did they get to be public domain? At the time that Wyoming, for example, advanced from territorial status to statehood, who owned the lands now classified as public domain, if not Uncle Sam? Did they belong solely to the people of Wyoming, entering the Union at that time, or were they a part of the resources of the federal government?

What the cry is, then, properly stated, is not to turn back to the states the vast federal public lands but for Uncle Sam to give to the states the vast holdings which belong to all of the American people, although those holdings may be within the boundaries of certain states. The public domain never belonged to the states. The land now eyed eagerly belonged to the federal government—and should continue to belong to all the American people.

This includes millions of acres of forests, vast stretches of grazing land capable of supporting herds of cattle and sheep, vast areas rich in oil and minerals. The public domain includes some of the nation's remaining natural resources.

Here in Nebraska, we are told, 735,224 acres of public domain would come to the state. Much of it is incorporated in the Halsey Forest. A smaller portion involves those lands housing defense establishments. Still other of this public domain is incorporated in the reservoir sites of the man-made lakes formed by huge river dams.

Much of this land, it is said, is valueless. Who knows? Who knows what land will be no value 50 years hence in a nation where population growth already is casting shadows in the mounting problems of land and food?

A year ago we heard a great deal about this public domain while visiting states in the upper Missouri River Basin. The purpose and intent were clear then. Before that sentiment crystallizes in Congress, the American people should give deliberate thought to the proposal to give the vast public domain to the states anxious to get their fingers on them.

International Love

If one chooses to visualize President Eisenhower as a liquid-voiced love-maker, strumming his guitar beneath flower-bedecked balconies in quest of lovers for his country, then it must be concluded that unexpected faces now and then appear at the window.

The latest smitten world figure happens to be Juan Peron, the Argentine dictator, who has decided that Ike has given him the big convincing. He is ready to love. "Our little differences with the United States have been completely ended," he said. "For this I must, in justice, honor President Eisenhower who sent his own brother here for conversations. Our countries now are unreservedly united."

Now what do we do? Juan is a lover who seldom has matrimony as his objective. The chances are it will take a pretty substantial handout to get him off the family davenport and out of the house. And if Ike's brother is going to do any more of this Dan Cupid stuff in the international field, Ike, who knows all about shooting, ought to have an earnest talk with him about being trigger happy.

A Coach's Life

Charley Dresen, pennant-winning manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has quit his job. Of the many reasons he emphasizes one of them. He got tired of the constant criticism of the fans who would settle for nothing less than perfection and a steady flow of world championships. He yearned for a town with sympathetic and understanding people.

Charley is chasing a will of the wisp. He is in an emotional business that thrives on passion and falls to zero where people can take or leave a victory or a defeat. The life of a coach is difficult in either position. If he doesn't win all of them, he soon has no job. If the people care not either way, he never gets a job. We don't say that is the way it should be. But that's the way it is.

Well, Really!

They don't waste time with trivial words in Montana. When the marshal of Medicine Lake quit to become the marshal of Bainville he didn't think the mayor, his former boss, paid him all he had coming. The mayor insisted he had. Replied the marshal, "I'll count to three. If I haven't got the money, I'll shoot your leg off." The mayor clapped him in jail.

Conservation Chiefs Claim Not Consulted

EN ROUTE THROUGH THE MIDDLE WEST. There was special reason why President Eisenhower stopped at the Defiance College in Defiance, Ohio, en route to the Mexican border. That reason had to do with 200 special cigars in glass containers prepared by the American Tobacco Company and labeled "Defiance welcomes the Eisenhower, September 1953."

Actually Ike got there in October, so the cigars weren't quite up to date. Nevertheless he got there.

And the story behind all this is that Kevin McCann, president of the Defiance College—Dr. McCann insists upon the "The"—had obtained a promise from the President last summer that he would stop off at Defiance, O., en route home from Denver, Dr. McCann is Ike's original biographer and wrote the book syndicated in many newspapers last year which helped to prepare for his nomination.

And having obtained the promise that Ike would stop over, McCann proceeded to get ready for him.

He spent $150 on a new cornerstone, raised a lot of money to extend the runways of the Defiance airport so Ike's big plane could land, and had the special cigars made for 200 guests. Furthermore, the city of Defiance turned out with gala decorations—when suddenly McCann got a wire from the President reading:

"Sorry we won't be able to stop at Defiance on way home, Kevin. We have to stop in Chicago to pick up the kids."

Ike referred to the fact that he had to pick up his grandchildren who were visiting in-laws at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

McCann got a bad rassing from the folks at Defiance, and for a time he didn't feel much like living there. However, he went to Washington, made a personal appeal to the President, and Ike finally decided to stop at Defiance in October, not September.

BOILING AT BENSON

If Secretary of Agriculture Benson had realized the political storm that was brewing in Wisconsin last week, he might not have announced his reorganization of the Agriculture Department on the date he did.

As it was, Benson popped his plan to lop off a lot of soil-conservation districts and abolish the Production and Marketing Administration, just as Wisconsin farmers were showing what they thought of Benson's policies.

Next day, however, some farm groups elsewhere in the nation were even more irate than those in Wisconsin—especially the National Association of Soil-Conservation Districts. In making its reorganization announcement, the Agriculture Department stated that the soil-conservation association had been consulted.

Tobey's Death Blow To Small Airlines

WASHINGTON—Little Business versus Big Business is an issue bound to be injected into the politics of '54. With so many big business executives in top positions in the Eisenhower administration, the shadow this dispute will cast is already clear.

As chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, the late Sen. Charles Tobey of New Hampshire was a warm friend of small business. One of his last acts just before his sudden death at the close of the last session of Congress was to provide for a subcommittee to investigate a field in which the charges of monopoly and big business coercion have flown fast and furious.

That is in air transportation. The non-scheduled airlines, with World War II veterans prominent in their operation, charge the big established air carriers with freeing out all newcomers. Most of the big lines get a direct subsidy from the government through the Postoffice Department that amounted last year to $70,300,000. The other lines get a rate for carrying air mail that, the non-scheduled charge, amounts to a subsidy since it is twice the rate they get for carrying air cargo.

Because he had confidence in his fairness and integrity, Tobey named Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Republican of Kentucky, to be head of the subcommittee. In a letter outlining the inquiry, Cooper pointed out that since the passage of the Civil Aeronautics Act in 1938, no congressional committee had reviewed the way in which the Civil Aeronautics Board had administered the act.

"Another matter which deserves consideration," Cooper wrote, "is the fundamental one of the right of entry in air transportation. This involves the very controversial problem of the 'non-scheduled' or the irregular, non-certificated and exempt air carriers. As you know, several of our colleagues in the Senate have raised the issue in recent days of alleged CAB discrimination against the 'non-scheduled.' These charges should certainly receive the attention of this committee."

Cooper thus proposed to open up an explosive subject involving the air transport lobby and the politics of past and present administrations. It now appears doubtful whether this investigation will ever take place.

After Tobey's death, Sen. John Bricker of Ohio succeeded to the chairmanship of the Senate Commerce Committee. No love had been lost between the two, for is Cooper one of Bricker's favorite Republicans, particularly since he made a speech opposing the Bricker amendment to restrict the treaty-making power of the Chief Executive.

A report circulated at the capitol that Bricker had informed Cooper he saw little reason for the investigation. This was coupled with the dismissal of Frank Keenan, who had been chosen by Tobey and Cooper as head of the staff directing the inquiry. The hope was that Keenan, who has not been identified with any aviation interests, would help the subcommittee take a fresh look at the whole air transport picture.

To this reporter Bricker in Columbus, O., denied that he had come to any conclusion about the inquiry. He said he thought it would proceed in January when Congress returns, but added that he would be guided by what a majority of the full committee desired. Ranking Democrat on that committee is Sen. Edwin Johnson of Colorado. Johnson, also a member of the Cooper subcommittee, has repeatedly attacked the non-scheduled for their "relatively poor safety record."

Recently Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield took a bold step with far-reaching implications. He is paying the airlines on the New York-Chicago run 18 1/2 cents a ton-mile to carry mail posted at the three-cent rate. What makes this such a radical step is that the Big Four—American, United, Eastern and TWA—have contracts to carry air mail at 45 cents a ton-mile. They contend that this is a fair compensatory rate.

Summerfield may have been motivated by the fact that the Flying Tiger Line, Inc., and Slick Airways, Inc., independent cargo carrying companies, had offered to carry all the mail at an average cost of 22 cents a ton-mile. Furthermore, the financial reports which the major lines make to the Postoffice Department show that they have become very big business indeed, with profits in recent years soaring to record levels. American showed operating revenues in 1952 of $187,300,000, operating profits of $26,400,000 and net profit of $12,500,000. United was second with $133,900,000, $24,300,000 and $10,700,000.

More striking in view of the newness of the air industry is the fact that of the six airlines and railroads showing the largest passenger revenue, four are airlines. American was first for 1952, topping the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Objectively, of course, one can say that politics should not intrude in these matters. But given the regulatory powers of the federal government, the pressures are bound to have a political focus.

Today the waxing moon is in the movable, fiery and barren sign, Aries. And a good time it is to be clearing one's garden of weeds and unwanted growth or you'll have them right with you come the springtime.

Thursday morning near 7 o'clock, third lunar quarter will begin, and at 8:47 the same morning, October's full moon will enter the fixed, dry, earthy and semi-fruitful sign, Taurus. Saturday morning at 9:09 it will enter the flexed, airy and barren sign, Gemini, and Monday at 29 minutes past 12 o'clock noon, it will enter Cancer, the most fruitful sign of the zodiac.

Cancer is a watery, movable sign and ideal for sowing seeds either in autumn or spring, for transplanting annuals in springtime, and for starting cuttings or for layering, but never transplant, purchase perennials, or plant bulbs when the moon is in Cancer. One wants them to be permanent. So do your bulb planting, moving of perennials and shrubs this Thursday and Friday while the moon is in the fixed sign, Taurus.

If you've grown a particularly fancy petunia this past summer, did you know that you can carry it through the winter and plant it out again next spring merely by uprooting it Thursday or Friday and hanging it upside down in a cool basement? Many good gardeners have always done this with their favorite geraniums and with great success. This well might be called "propagating patiently."

Before a hard frost, lift your tuberous begonias, shake the soil from them, and store the tubers in sand, sawdust or peat moss at 50 degrees.

Dig gladioli corms and to prevent spread of disease, cut and burn their tops. Keep the dry corms in tightly closed paper sacks dusted with naphthalene flakes (one ounce per 100 corms) at 70 degrees for several weeks to conquer threat of thrips.

Dahlias—when past their blooming and after light frost, cut their tops, then dig and dry the tubers. Store in a cool place.

I never have any luck storing dahlia tubers in our basement. It is so tightly built, it is far too warm for them.

Green tomatoes will ripen quickly if placed in a sunny window sill. To delay ripening, wrap each fruit separately in a piece of newspaper. Then put them in a cool, dark place.

Some gardeners hang the entire plants and hang them upside down in their cellars. Ripening is rapid and the

First Million

The boy next door is going to write a book.

The reason he is going to write a book is because he wants to make a million dollars.

When he came to me with news of what he intended, I was interested. He was so sure of himself.

"Yeah, fiction," he said. "Only, of course, a lot of it will be based on my own experiences, but there'll be fictitious names."

The boy next door has been out of school for a year and a half, and they wouldn't take him in the Army because of something embarrassing, like flat feet, so I looked at him curiously. Still, a lot of living can be packed into a little bit of time.

"You got a plot for this book?" I queried, and was instantly ashamed of myself for using questionable grammar in the presence of an author with million-dollar expectations.

"Well, not yet," he said. That will just kind of work itself out. Say, when you sell a book, how does the publisher pay you. I mean, does he give you a check right away, or do you have to wait, or what?"

I said, "Most of the time, with most books, you wait a long, long time, except maybe for those that call an advance on royalties, and that's usually about enough to pay you 10 cents an hour for the time you've put in. Then, after you get three of waiting, you go out and get a job in an office, and begin making money."

"Huh?" he said.

"Look," I said, "do you know that if you average out all the books published, the average author nets about 500 bucks on his book—and uses that up sending complimentary copies to friends?"

"You mean nobody makes money writing books?"

"Some people," I said, "make fortunes, and some make good livings at it, and that's why so many keep trying—but that old average seems to hang around. About that million dollars, now."

"Y'know," he interrupted, "I'm not sure I'll write a book, after all."

"Maybe it would be better not to," I agreed. "Particularly if it's just the million dollars you're interested in."

fruits do have a better flavor because they naturally absorb juices from the plants and leaves.

Our picture today, in the Victorian mill glass dish which was my paternal grandmother's, is of ripening Sweet Basil and Florence fennel. The seeds of Florence fennel are very similar to those of dill, aren't they? But their flavor is milder. Each autumn I have great fun brewing Sweet-Basil-flavored and Florence-fennel-flavored vinegars for use in winter salads and French dressing. Just at the moment I am occupied with baking a birthday cake, however, for tomorrow is my mother's, Mrs. B. C. Parrish's anniversary.

Situation 'Shocking'—Williams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Williams (R-Del) said Monday an estimated 25,000 federal employees are evading payment of income taxes and the government is powerless to collect from them.

Some of the tax dodgers, Williams said, work in the Treasury Department itself. Terming it "a shocking and disgraceful situation," Williams said in a statement he will ask Congress to enact corrective legislation when the lawmakers return in January.

'Loophole' Used
The Delaware senator said the 25,000 federal workers have found a "loophole" enabling them to comply with the law technically by filing their income tax returns, but then refusing to pay the taxes due.

Filing the returns makes them safe from prosecution, he said, and the government can't collect the tax because a federal law "prohibits the salaries of government employees being attached."

Williams said the loss in taxes thus uncollected might run into millions of dollars.

Can't Be Fired
Like other taxpayers, most federal employees are subject to the government withholding tax which keeps income taxes paid on a month-to-month basis. But in some cases, Williams said, the withholding tax is not enough to cover all the tax due.

Williams said the rules of the Civil Service Commission do not count the non-payment of bills or taxes as a demerit, and the Civil Service has ruled that employees "cannot be disciplined or fired" for that reason.

The senator said he will ask Congress to pass a law authorizing the attachment of federal workers' pay checks for non-payment of taxes and penalties. He said he understands the Treasury Department will support "the necessary revision in our laws."

It's the flavour... always right!

Food, Nutrition Progress Cited

Nothing is more dynamic than the scientific progress made in food and nutrition since the beginning of the last war, Paul P. Logan said at the third session of the Nebraska Restaurant Association convention Monday afternoon.

Logan, director of research for the National Restaurant Association from Chicago, and William O. Wheeler, national president from Indianapolis, displayed new equipment and discussed new methods of food preparation.

There is a trend toward pre-fabricated foods, those ready-to-serve and ready-to-cook, both for housewives and restaurants, Logan said.

Logan listed several new scientific research projects which may benefit in food preparation. Among these were:

1. Aseptically canning methods by which even whole milk can be canned.

2. Bombardment of food with three million volts of electricity to kill bacteria and enzymes.

3. Bombardment of food with high frequency sound waves to stabilize mixtures such as oil and water.

Sabra Kennedy, from the Southern Equipment Co. in St. Louis, Mo., discussed labor saving equipment. Among the labor savers she said, are machines instead of hand labor, prefabricated foods, and proper kitchen design.

The Association will elect officers Tuesday afternoon. Among the Tuesday speakers will be: State Sen. Robert McNamara, "Nebraska Legislation 1953"; H. Flannery, State Bureau of Dairies and Foods, "State Restaurant Inspection"; Dr. O. V. Calhoun, "Watch Your Calories"; Leslie Fleming, Dairy Council of Lincoln, "Your Customers are Asking for Low Calorie Menus."

23 Counties Hiked Values Voluntarily

Twenty-three counties voluntarily increased their town real estate assessments to the level required by law following last winter's Supreme Court mandate, Gov. Robert Crosby said Monday.

Ten counties even put their values too high. In the opinion of the State Board of Equalization, which later allowed decreases, he continued.

In another of a series of letters to his home town of North Platte, the governor added:

"About 35 other counties substantially increased their town real estate assessments, but did not go the whole way."

"Our county, Lincoln County, and about 34 others did not increase town assessments at all."

This was the situation, the governor said, when the State Board went to work in July.

"To the limit of our ability we equalized among the counties without favoritism to any," Crosby said.

Plans and specifications for the proposed new Statehouse elevator are about complete, Gov. Crosby said Monday.

He made the report after a meeting with department heads. Bids on the elevator will be called for soon.

The governor also said: A central micro-filming room will be in operation about Dec. 1, as soon as the space is available and equipment can be purchased.

Preparation of a new parking area across the street east of the Capitol has been slowed down because Reformatory inmates doing the work have been busy with salvage of tile from the Statehouse terrace, now being resurfaced in an attempt to halt leakage.

The December Nebraska Selective Service of 166 men is the lowest call which the state has received since June, 1952, when Nebraska's quota was 126.

The call for this month was 200, and next month is 182.

Commenting on the call, Lt. Col. Francis Drath, state Selective Service manpower chief, said that no one would be called through the Christmas and New Year's holiday period.

The men taken in December, he said, will have reported for induction by Dec. 11 with no one leaving after then until about Jan. 4.

Congress Urged To Delay Action On Long Range Ag Program

'Wait Until After '54 Elections'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Indiana farm leaders called upon Congress Monday to take agricultural problems "out of politics" by delaying action on a long-range program until after next year's congressional elections.

They suggested that the present high-level price supports for major crops be continued one more year—that is, through the end of the 1955 marketing year. Thus, lawmakers at a hearing of the House Agriculture Committee by Dean Harry J. Reed of the College of Agriculture of Purdue University and was seconded by a number of other farmers attending the meeting.

They said action on a new program next year would be influenced by "political expediency."

The committee of Republicans and Democrats is completing a tour of the Midwest seeking views of farmers on new legislation. Its last Mid-western hearing will be held at Columbus, O., Tuesday.

The lawmakers found top-heavy support for indefinite suspension of the present program on an earlier trip through Southern states and in the Western and Central corn-belt areas of the current journey.

As was the case in Illinois and Iowa, the committee found Indiana farmers divided on the question of price support levels. In Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Nebraska, those favoring high supports were predominant.

Dean Reed, President Hassel E. Schenck of the Indiana Farm Bureau and a number of individual farmers chosen by county agricultural agents to appear before the committee urged use of a flexible price support plan.

On the other hand, Master Frank Jump of the Indiana State Grange said about 88 per cent of the members of his organization favored continuation of present 90 per cent parity price floors. The present program will expire at the end of the 1954 marketing year unless extended by Congress.

Drought At Least Temporarily Ending, Say Weather Experts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two U.S. Weather Bureau experts think the drought affecting the central and eastern United States is about over—but that it may return.

Jerome Namias, chief of extended forecasts, and Glen W. Brier, chief of meteorological statistics, gave their views in a joint copyrighted interview with the magazine U. S. News and World Report. Their replies to questions were not individually identified.

"We think," they said, "that conditions from now on will favor a gradual alleviation of the dry weather over central and eastern portions of the country."

To Start Soon
"We think it will get started within the next 30 days, but we can't say whether this change will be temporary and that we won't return to a dry condition later on."

They were asked whether the current drought means that the country is in for "a cycle of drought" similar to that of the early 1930s, and gave this reply: "Well, we've been having drought in some areas for several years and it looks like a drought condition is building up. It is hard to call what is happening a cycle, however. That depends on how you define 'cycle.'"

"If you want to consider a cycle as a definite sequence of events occurring a certain number of years apart, we don't think there is a cycle of drought."

"We can't be precise. All we know is that we frequently have a series of dry years, and then a repetition some years later."

Cause Unknown
Namias and Brier were asked whether experts can tell if this year's droughts will carry over into 1954. This was the reply: "No. That is where we come to the break in our understanding of our problem. No one fully understands why in some cases drought will exist for a period of years, while in other cases a drought is more temporary."

"We don't know what causes these dry spells and wet spells that seem to alternate over periods of years."

Statewide Tax Meet To Hear Gov. Crosby

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Gov. Robert Crosby will speak Tuesday morning at the opening session of a statewide meeting on the subject of taxation.

Arch W. Jarrell, editor of the Daily Independent, who was chosen chairman of the state tax committee recently at a meeting in Lincoln, announced the governor's appearance Monday.

Jarrell also revealed that the personnel of two panels, of which will discuss property tax administration, had been changed to some degree.

Lakers Moderator
P. W. Lakers of Columbus will be moderator of the property tax panel with Owen Cotton of Omaha, M. S. Hevelone of Beatrice and Charles Marshall of Lincoln as members.

Roy Thompson of Hastings will serve as moderator of a panel on new forms of taxation. Members will include Sen. Dwight Burney of Hartington and Paul Huston of Grand Island.

Also scheduled to speak at the morning session is Robert W. Armstrong of Omaha executive secretary of the Nebraska Citizens Council.

NU Students Enter Judging Contest

Four University of Nebraska students will attend the 1953 Collegiate Students International Contest in judging dairy products which will be held at the H. P. Hood and Sons plant in Boston, Mass., Monday, Oct. 26.

The contestants are Roger Essman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Essman, Wilber; Charles K. Frederick, son of Mrs. Lynn Bobbitt, Nebraska City; Gordon L. House Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. House Sr., Greenville, Miss.; and Dale Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Olson, York.

Drought Breaker

Rainfall over south central, eastern and parts of northeastern Nebraska has helped to check drought conditions at least temporarily. Areas benefitting from weekend rains as reported by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company, the U.S. Weather Bureau and The Star's own service included:

Omaha Flier Dies In Plane Mishap

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Two Navy air men rented a private plane for a pleasure flight and crashed to their deaths here.

They were identified by the Pacific Fleet Air Command Monday as:

James John Kopecky, 22, son of Mrs. J. J. Kopecky of Omaha, Neb.

Paul Richard Carroll, 20, son of Walter Thomas Carroll, Harbor Hills, Hebron, Ohio.

Kopecky, the pilot, was killed when the two-seat plane crashed from 300 feet while coming in for a landing at the field where it had been rented. Carroll died at a naval hospital an hour later.

Omaha Cattle Run Believed 3rd Largest

OMAHA (AP)—Omaha Monday had one of its biggest—possibly the third largest—cattle and calf run in its history, the Livestock Foundation of Omaha reported.

About 37,100 cattle and calves went on sale Monday morning. The record is 40,032 set Nov. 17 of last year.

The huge beef run helped the Omaha livestock market retain its rating as the nation's largest in total receipts for the ninth Monday in a row. The total exceeded 50,000 cattle, calves, hogs and sheep.

Northern Outlines Extension Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Northern Natural Gas Co. Monday outlined to the Power Commission plans to extend its service to 49 more towns in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and South Dakota.

Harry Clert, treasurer of the company, testified it could spend seven million dollars on construction of pipelines to the additional towns. He said its plans call for the distributing utility in each community to pay a part of the construction costs.

The towns to which Northern proposes to extend service include:

Nebraska—Eagle, North Bend and Waverly.

Services Held For Victims Of Crash

BOELUS, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Funeral services were held here Monday afternoon for Ernest J. Piper and his son, Kenneth, 12, of Aurora, who were killed in a car-train crash west of Grand Island.

Piper's daughter, Shirley, remains in critical condition in a Grand Island hospital. The Pipers were former residents of Boelus.

Survivors of Piper include his wife; four daughters, Mrs. Beulah Boigt of Monee, Ill., Mrs. Evelyn Johnson of Kouts, Ind., Mrs. Eva Lorenson of Frankfort, Ill., and Shirley, at home; and two sons, LeRoy of Valparaiso, Ill., and Donald L., at home.

Mrs. Perry Marks 101st Anniversary

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Mrs. Millie Perry, who has outlived five of her six children, celebrated her 101st birthday Monday at the Soldiers and Sailors Home here.

Mrs. Perry, widow of a Civil War veteran, is considered to be in "pretty good health" for her age.

She was born Oct. 19, 1852, at Monmouth, Ill. She is the only one of eight children in her family still living.

Mrs. Perry's only living child, J. D. Perry, lives in California.

VERNON G. JOHNSON
WAUSAU—Funeral services will be held here Tuesday afternoon for Vernon G. Johnson, 66, former Holdrege resident. He died at the home of a daughter in Columbus.

We Can't Win For Losing

YOU CAN'T win for losing—just a wee bit more space today—and ever so much more news to put into it—Either way, we lose—But everyone is talking about—Marlon Brando, the popular stage and screen actor who is spending a short time in Lincoln—The consensus is that he is delightful, personality plus, and extremely good looking—and we might add that the verdict has been rendered by experts—

A FEMININE group of 28 Omahans were in town Monday—the luncheon guests of Mrs. Ellet B. Drake at her home—The guests were all members of the Omaha Book Club, in which Mrs. Drake still retains membership.

AND THE Drakes, should we say, arrived home from the Broadmoor at Colorado Springs, just about in time for Mrs. Drake to greet her guests—Well—since they arrived home at the week-end, she did have time to take off her hat.

THE WILLIAMS—Mr. and Mrs. Frank—have gone to Mexico for an autumn holiday—Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Williams left on Monday, and will be returning towards the end of the month.

WE TOLD you a week or two ago that Mr. and Mrs. Eugene

Hurtz of Los Angeles were due in town about mid-October—Mr. and Mrs. Hurtz have been the house guests of Mrs. Hurtz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell since last Friday—but are leaving this morning to go on to New York City.

During their brief stay here Mr. and Mrs. Hurtz have been honored at numerous family affairs.

OUR BRIDE-elect this morning is Miss Harriet Wenke, whose marriage to James R. Campbell will take place in November—

Today Miss Wenke will be complimented when Mrs. E. M. Weaver and Mrs. Robert Kirkman are hostesses at a dessert luncheon at the home of Mrs. Weaver. Twenty-four guests have been invited for the dessert affair, and will present the soon-to-be bride with a crystal shower.

ON THURSDAY Miss Wenke will again be an honoree when Mrs. Gilbert Duling entertains at a 7-o'clock dessert supper at her home. Places will be arranged for 12, and Miss Wenke will receive a miscellaneous shower.

UNDERSTAND that Mrs. Richard Still (Jan. Everett), who has been spending the past two weeks as the guest of her mother, will leave Thursday to return to her home in Pacific Grove, Calif.

But before she leaves Mrs. Still has some courtesies to sandwich in between packing—One of them is a luncheon today for which Mrs. Linus Southwick will be hostess at her home when she entertains a small group of guests. An informal afternoon will follow the luncheon, and we hear that Mrs. Still's aunt, Mrs. H. J. Southwick, will come from Friend for the party.

And on Wednesday Mrs. Still will be more or less a guest of honor when a bridge club, of which she is a former member, has its initial meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. E. J. Walt. Luncheon places will be arranged for 12 and the afternoon, naturally, will be devoted to bridge.

FRIDAY, so someone told us, brings Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flansburg home from Mexico where they have been combining business with considerable pleasure.

We Hear That--

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Demma are announcing the birth of a daughter at Lincoln General Hospital on Monday, Oct. 18. Mrs. Demma is the former Yolanda Udderberg of San Francisco. The young Miss Demma's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Demma—and incidentally, the baby's 12-year-old brother, Harry, is most enthusiastic concerning his baby sister's arrival.

Credit Club Installs

Lincoln PTA Activities

The October meeting of DISTRICT 126 PTA was held Friday evening at the school when the members discussed suggestions for a PTA project. Mrs. Lester Vest, president, conducted the meeting when a talk on school legislation was featured.

A report on school safety was given by Judy Umberger, and a demonstration of classroom work was presented by beginners and 1st grade pupils. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening with Mrs. Charles Svara as chairman assisted by Mrs. Adam Green and Mrs. Glenn Umberger.

Miss Elva McFie addressed the members of WILLARD PTA on the topic, "Today's Art in the Schools," at the group's monthly meeting Friday evening. Mrs. Franklin

Sheldon presided at the meeting and announced the appointment of Mrs. J. R. Sexton as health chairman.

Mrs. Martin Meyer, Mrs. Gene Templeton and Mrs. Marcus Van Winkle were named chairmen for the jifney lunch on Nov. 17, and elected delegates to the district PTA meeting were Mrs. Sheldon, Mrs. Fay Smith and Miss Rose Mikulas.

Mrs. Sheldon and Mrs. Templeton were hostesses at the social hour.

Plan Luncheon

A meeting of the Lincoln Section of the Council of Jewish Women will be held Wednesday afternoon at the South Street Temple. The meeting will follow a 12:30 o'clock luncheon.

Delta Zeta Has Banquet

Miss Jo Hagemeister of Potter, president of Delta Zeta sorority at Nebraska Wesleyan University, presided at the founders day banquet held Monday evening at the chapter house, an announced that the annual Delta Zeta Woman of the Year award, the sorority's highest honor, had been presented to Mrs. George Lenning of Dalton, Ohio, for her outstanding civic leadership.

Alumnae speaker at the banquet was Mrs. J. L. Munoz, an alumna of the chapter who only recently returned to Lincoln after living at Panama City, Canal Zone, the last three years. Presiding as toastmistress was Miss Ruby Varana of Malmo, and a report on the national sorority convention was given by Miss Beth Rosenau of Geneva.

More than 60 members attended the banquet which was closed with a candlelight ceremony honoring the seniors of the active chapter. A program of music was presented by Miss Marilyn Linton of Sidney, vocalist.

Book Review Series Opens

The book review series sponsored by the South Street Temple Sisterhood will open at 2 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, at the Temple when Dr. Stewart MacDonald will review, "Inside Story: Psychiatry in Everyday Life," by Redlick and Bingham. Dr. MacDonald is director of the Child Guidance Center, a Community Chest Agency, and is president of the Lincoln Mental Health Association.

The series, which is under the direction of Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel and Mrs. Nathan Gold, assisted by Mrs. Irwin Dubinsky, will feature during ensuing months reviews by Mrs. Rita Shaw, Dr. Ruth Levertson, Dr. Charles Patterson and Dr. C. Vin White.

Fortnightly Club Program

The members of Fortnightly will hold their regular meeting and program on Tuesday Oct. 27, at the home of Mrs. George Towne. Following the 1 o'clock luncheon, Mrs. L. R. Doyle will present the program.

Colonial Dames Meet

Mrs. Hattie W. DesJardien will entertain the members of the National Society of Colonial Dames of America in Nebraska at luncheon to be held at her home Wednesday afternoon.

A resume of her recent trip to Europe will be given by Mrs. C. E. R. Edmond, and Mrs. Grant A. Ackerman, state president, will conduct the meeting.

Special guests will be Mrs. W. G. Magaw of Topeka, Kans., a new member of the group, and the following prospective members, Miss Edna Cole and Miss Florence Reynolds of Omaha, and Mrs. H. Clyde Filler, Mrs. Kenneth Lawson and Mrs. Boyd M. Raynor of Lincoln.

Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marx will commemorate their golden wedding anniversary at a reception to be given in their honor on Saturday evening, Oct. 24th. Their children and members of their families will be the hosts and hostesses and the open house will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marx, 2505 So. 24th.

To Present Skit

An original skit, "Hadassah Goes To Hawaii," will be presented at the annual membership luncheon of Hadassah to be held Tuesday noon at Tifereth Synagogue.

Written and directed by Mrs. Gerald Kushner and Mrs. Joseph Schuckman, the skit will be presented by a cast including Mrs. Hyman Polsky, Mrs. Nate Bernstein, Mrs. Merle Gordon, Mrs. Ben Ross, Mrs.

Bernard Krantz, Mrs. Louis Finkelstein, Mrs. Jack Singer, Mrs. Hilliard Pivnick, Mrs. Bernard Lashinsky, Mrs. Morris Nossor and Mrs. Robert Chandler, with Mrs. Leon Chesnin as accompanist.

Credit Women

Miss Virginia Kenyon of Lincoln was elected president of the Nebraska organization of the Credit Women's Breakfast Clubs of North America at the annual one-day convention held Sunday at the Ft. Kearney Hotel in Kearney.

Elected vice president of the state group was Miss Thelma Applebee, also of Lincoln, and other new officers are Miss Martha Durbin of North Platte, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Geraldine Fredrickson of Fremont, state director.

Following the morning business session, Gladys O'Donnell of Omaha, addressed the delegates on the subject of the Credit Women's organization.

Representing the Lincoln Credit Women's Breakfast Club at the convention were Mrs. Nelle Hudkins, Mrs. Stella MacDaniels, Mrs. Belle Keitges, Mrs. Helen Kane, Mrs. Ann Kryger, Miss Virginia Grail, Mrs. Bea Wood, Mrs. Marie Long, Miss Kenyon, Mrs. Maude Kennedy, Mrs. Clara McBride, Mrs. Verna Regelean, Miss Lenice Leik and Miss Applebee.

National SC Chiefs Start Movement

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Directors of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts are working on a program Monday to counter what they described as a governmental proposal to wipe out its Soil Conservation Service.

The directors hope to have their program ready Wednesday to present soon afterward to assistant Secretary of Agriculture J. Earl Coke.

The directors met Oct. 12 in Washington with Coke, at his invitation to discuss the proposed reorganization.

"His plan would wreck the world-famous Soil Conservation Service, from which we get our technical help," said W. L. Southworth of League City, program director for the national association.

Ruin Technical Help

"The top technical brains would be scattered to the four winds. They would be fired, and the regional offices eliminated," Southworth asserted.

"The assistant secretary of agriculture wants to turn soil conservation over to the state colleges and extension services. Our group is opposed. Those organizations are already shot through with politics and bureaucracy; we don't want any more of that than we already have to deal with."

Assistant Secretary Coke agreed to accept a counter-proposal from the association directors, Southworth said. They hope to have it ready by Wednesday.

Drop Specialists

The government's proposed reorganizing plan would approximately halve the 43 specialists in Washington whose technical know-how aids the soil conservation districts.

Regional offices would be abolished and 289 specialists would be out of jobs. The number of area offices would be reduced from 329 to 236. Soil conservation Service information work in the field would be abolished and the total staff of 75 reduced to 10, all in Washington.

"Such programs as Nebraska's watershed program to control floods would be threatened," Southworth said, "because it requires the knowledge and co-operation of federal engineers to carry out such programs which cross the state lines and include participation of two or more states."

LUTHER STEWARD

Federal Employees Head OKs Rule On Fifth Amendment

The president of more than 250,000 federal employees, Luther Steward of the National Federation of Federal Employees, voiced full agreement here Monday night with Atty. Gen. Brownell's proposal that any federal employee trying to invoke the 5th amendment should be fired.

"In not one single instance," the president said, "has any member expressed fear or worry about the security or loyalty program."

Those who convey the idea that federal employees are all excited about such programs, Steward said, are those whose own stability is under question.

He pointed out that it would be better to have such security programs embodied in statute and not in hodgepodge executive agreements.

Twin Cities NU Alumni Club Will Hear Judd

Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota, 1920 graduate of the University of Nebraska, will address the annual fall party of the Twin Cities Nebraska Alumni Club at Minneapolis Tuesday night. James S. Pittenger, secretary of the University Alumni Association, will attend the affair.

Makes flyaway hair behave

BY CAROL DOUGLAS

Do you wish your hair would comb softly into place and stay neat immediately after your shampoo? Your wish comes true with Tame. Tame is a new, invisible hairdressing that gives your hair a neat-but-natural look even the first day after you've washed it. Never again will you moan "I can't do a thing with my hair." Just use Tame after every shampoo. You don't smear it on. You don't spray it on. You rinse it on—so every strand is completely covered with a delicate, transparent solution that's like nature's own oils. Tame never leaves hair stiff or greasy looking. Just think of it! A hairdressing that's invisible on your hair. Only the beauty shows.

Get Tame today at your favorite toiletries counter, in a 30c, 60c, or $1.00 size plus Fed. tax. Tame not only gives a well-groomed look... it also gives your hair a glorious, sparkling, silken softness. Make beautiful hair a habit—use Tame after every shampoo.

Council OKs New Humane Society Pact

The City Council has approved a new contract with the Humane Society to give the Society more funds on which to operate.

The new contract calls for the Society to pay to the city $800 a year for the sale of dog licenses. The city has been collecting 50 cents on every license which amounted last year to nearly $3,000.

Along with the contract came word from Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme that study would now be given to an increase in dog license fees. The fees now stand at $5 for females and $3.50 for males and spayed females.

Along other lines, the Council approved the $4,740 bid of Dobson Bros. Construction Co. for the paving of 57th, St. Paul to Madison and their bid of $28,468 for paving of Madison, 63rd to 65th; Cleveland, Delhay to the west line of Northeast Terrace and all of Delhay. The bid of Abel Construction Co. was approved for paving of 33rd, Sheridan to Hillside and Hillside, 33rd to the east line of Sheridan Heights.

The following plans and cost estimates on special improvement districts were approved:

Paving of 51st, South to Glade, $12,500.
Paving of St. Paul, 57th to 58th, $5,100.
Sewer in Gladstone, 44th to 47th and Jackson, 44th to 45th, $7,800.
Water in 39th, X to W, $1,500.
Graveling of Nance, 11th to 12th, $500.

Fund Drive Hits 23 Pct. At First Day

The Community Chest-Red Cross fund drive got off to a good start Monday when $109,681—or 23 per cent—of the goal of $482,366 was reported by workers at the first report luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce.

General Chairman Willard E. Townsend expressed satisfaction at the first day's reports. "We are pleased at the progress shown," he said. "Quite a few firms met their employee quota the first day. It is our hope this year that solicitation and reporting be speeded so as not to delay the completion of the campaign, thereby entailing additional expense."

The advance gifts section under the direction of James Stuart reported $45,986 toward its goal of $250,813. The employees division, under the direction of Joe E. Fenton, reported a total of $59,994 toward a goal of $215,653. The women's division under the leadership of Mrs. Clark Jeary reported $3,701 toward a goal of $20,000.

Rev. Raymond Alber of East Lincoln Christian Church delivered the invocation.

Beauty Selection

DRAPER, Utah (P)—Lou Dunyon has found a painless method for picking a beauty queen. In a celebration here, Dunyon had two sections of Draper each elect six girls to compete for Draper's queen title. Each sextette was then asked to do its own judging to pick a semi-finalist. Then the remaining pair drew straws.

Turpin Trains Like Crazy Mixed-Up Kid For Olson

Bobo Favored 11-5 In Title Fight Wednesday Night

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — What's the puzzle for the fight mob trying to stab a winner as odds favoring Bobo Olson hold steady at 11-5 in Wednesday's middleweight at Madison Square Garden.

Olson is a known quantity. The baldish Hawaiian is a busy, cute fighter without too much wallop. Turpin used to be a rugged, awkward fighter who manhandled Sugar Ray Robinson like he never was handled before. But what is he today?

The British Negro did his best to confuse the experts with his sporadic training at Grossinger, N. Y. He had three capable sparring partners but boxed only five times in three weeks. In the last week he worked only once, or, at least, only once publicly. "He hasn't done enough boxing to suit me," said Jack Solomons, the London promoter.

"When I watched him he appeared out of distance (off on his timing)."

"I talked to George (Manager George Middleton) on the telephone Monday and he was as happy as could be. He said he didn't want to tell me his weight on the phone but not to worry. "I was not impressed by the Olson that fought Hairston (Eugene Hairston, who was stopped by Bobo in 1952). Perhaps he has improved since then but a man that can't punch hard can't beat a Turpin."

American managers and trainers, baffled by Turpin's strange training routine, are picking Olson almost to a man.

"He's a better fighter," said Whitey Binsten, veteran trainer. "I saw him (Olson) when he was just a punk kid, boxing Tommy Yarosz. He can do anything the other guy does and keep going all night."

"What do we know about Turpin?" said Harry Suckevers, manager of Paddy Young who lost to Olson in the American title bout last June. "I've got to lean to Olson. Paddy feels the same way."

Before he left for Paris, Al Weill, Rocky Marciano's manager, advised, "pick Olson and don't make a mistake." Irving Cohen, manager of Rocky Graziano, a former middle king, also picks Bobo.

Dan Florio, who trains Roland La Starza and Paddy Young, is torn between two loyalties. "I'll root for Turpin because Paddy might get to fight him but I lean to Olson. He's smart, cute and takes a good punch."

Freddie Brown, veteran corner man, casts a solid dissenting vote. He'll know he got hit. Young staggered Olson a few times and did nothing about it. Olson is too slow for this fellow. He's a real strong guy."

Nat Rogers and Eddie Walker, two managers who have seen the best come and go, are in the Olson camp.

"He's awkward clever, if you know what I mean," said Rogers.

"I saw Turpin in a six rounder in 1947. I think he was a better fighter then than he is today. Olson will wear him down."

Olson is a heady fighter," said Walker. "He's a plugger, keeps going all the time. Turpin wastes too much time, trying to make the other guy miss."

Joe Vellar, former manager of Gus Lesnevich, called Olson a "better fighter." He added, "I never thought much of the other guy."

This Bloke Likes Bobo

LONDON (AP) — The only London bookie advertising for business on the Bobo Olson-Randy Turpin middleweight title fight made Olson a 4 to 6 favorite Monday.

The bookmaker, Manny Kink, offered to lay 5 to 4 against Turpin winning the bout in New York Wednesday night.

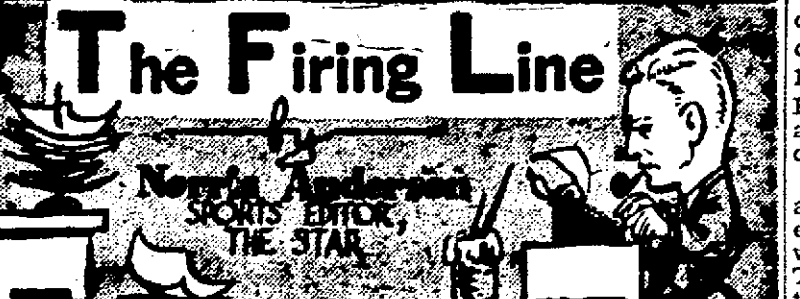

Cyclone Campus Back To Normal

AMES (AP) — Peace returned to the Iowa State College campus Monday after a wild, hail-victory demonstration during which police tossed tear gas bombs into a milling throng of about 4,000 students. No injuries were reported.

Student exuberance, touched off by Iowa State's Saturday grid upset over Missouri, erupted Sunday night when chanting collegians surrounded the home of Dr. James Hilton, college president. They demanded cancellation of Monday classes.

Flanagan Wins In 10

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Veteran Del Flanagan, 149½, St. Paul, Minn., Monday night handed New England welterweight champion Steve Marcicello, 147½, Providence, his first professional boxing defeat with a unanimous 10-round decision.

'We'll Know After The First Five'

It was Sept. 10 to be somewhat exact, when Coach Bill Glassford of the Nebraska Cornhuskers surprised a press conference with this statement:

"We won't know how we are doing until after the first five games."

He told of the sudden death of the platoon system which forced the Huskers to learn two-way football in 20 short spring practices. You don't teach old dogs new tricks, you know, especially when the old dogs are seniors and have seen nothing except defensive or offensive duty all their college careers.

At the time, the Huskers still hadn't tested their "team a quarter" idea under game fire, nor had the newly-installed single wing been tried against a Saturday foe.

Well, the single wing idea with much died with the Oregon opener. A matter of not enough of the necessary boom-boom blocking and other essential ingredients.

Out of a clear sky, Glassford surprised Illinois by returning to his old T-formation. The Illini, looking for the single wing, were mighty lucky to emerge with a 21-21 tie. If you'll note what Ray Elliot's merry little group has done since, you can further respect the Huskers.

Anyway, nothing worked against Kansas State the next time out. This caused the immediate end of the team-a-quarter system.

Once again, Glassford shifted strategy, tossing an iron-man lineup against Pitt. Once again, an adjustment paid off as the Huskers fought the favored Panthers to a standstill.

Came Miami Saturday and the iron man persisted to the tune of seven men playing 60 minutes and only 15 players being used. This resulted in a rather handy victory.

That brings us up to Glassford's theory of telling after the first five games. It looks this way:

It depends greatly on injuries. Given the full physical capacities of these iron men, the Huskers could be able to play all of the remaining opponents on a level—except Oklahoma. The Huskers can be counted on fairly eveners with Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and Iowa State—off the present record, at least.

Pass defending must still improve, as well as the punting and the kickoffs. There are other factors, too, that can iron out with time.

It has been a season of adjustment, of gradually feeling around for the right answer. The iron men and the straight T temporarily seem to have solved the problem.

Evaluating the first five games, Glassford foresees:

(1) That the squad now has developed more know-how along this idea of two-way football.

(2) That there has been adequate opportunity to judge the squad against top competition.

(3) That the squad could be expected to show steady improvement the remainder of the season.

(4) That more polishing is still necessary.

(5) That there are no predictions other than "we'll take 'em one at a time."

Among The Missouri Powers

Fullback Bob Bauman, rated the hardest runner and best blocker on the Missouri squad, will be a Nebraska problem at Columbia Saturday. Scout Ray Prochaska of the Huskers rates Bauman as one of the Tigers' most valuable players.

Ace Halfback Was Out Of I-State Game

Missouri's Merrifield Ready For Huskers

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

"Missouri is going to be steamed up," Scout Ray Prochaska warned the University Club Quarterbacks Monday noon of the Nebraska invasion of Columbia Saturday.

Prochaska, who spied on the Tigers against Iowa State Saturday, said that the team will be greatly benefited by the return of Halfback Ed Merrifield, star of the 1952 Nebraska-Missouri game.

"Merrifield did not play against Iowa State and his absence made a big difference," commented Prochaska.

It was Merrifield who plucked off a lateral and ran for the deciding touchdown in Missouri's 10-6 win over Nebraska last year. His defensive play from safety also prevented two Husker touchdowns.

Prochaska described Mizzou as a dangerous offensive team which effectively used both the wing-T and the sliding-T. The Tigers' split-T plays suffer from the lack of a quarterback who can run as well as pass.

While admitting that Missouri was below par at the guards, he complimented the Tiger tackles.

Also drawing the Prochaska stamp of approval were Halfback Bob Schoonmaker (dangerous on running pass), Quarterback Tony Scardino (accurate passer) and Fullback Bob Bauman (powerful runner and blocker).

"We know we have a tremendous scrap on our hands," Coach Bill Glassford told the Quarterbacks. "Don Faurot will have 'em up for this one and it's the Missouri homecoming."

Speaking of the victory over Miami, Glassford said, "We finally got around the corner after a long siege."

He added:

"It was hard to evaluate this squad because we had to start from scratch because of the new rule change. When the Reds and Whites each won a pre-season practice game, we figured we had a first and second team of almost equal ability."

"The first five games have been a gradual adjustment to take full advantage of our manpower. I wish we could be starting the season right now."

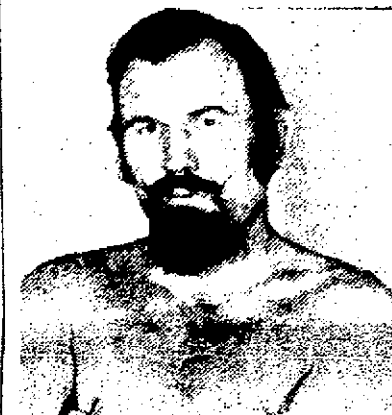

"Fumbling has hurt us as you can see by the fact that we've recovered only one of 15 of our fumbles and have given up six touchdowns with the opponents needing only 70 yards."

He described Miami as a "fine team with more speed than we thought it had." Nebraska's plan was to bottle in the speed by keeping the ends and defensive halfbacks wide, he said, and the plan worked fairly effectively.

Regarding the fourth-down kick on the last play of the game, he said the play was called because it would eat up the remaining seconds.

Pat O'Connor Heads Wrestle ... Fairgrounds Tonight

Irish Pat O'Connor, the television favorite and one of the claimants to the world title, will face Jean Baillargeon tonight in the feature attraction of the fairgrounds wrestle show.

Promoter Adam Krieger, bowing to the fans' requests, brought Baillargeon back as O'Connor's foe. Baillargeon, 230-pound Canadian, impressed in his Lincoln debut last week.

"This should be one of the very best matches of the season," commented Krieger. "Both of these lads weigh over 230 and both are very fast."

The match will go two of three falls with a 60-minute time limit.

In the opener of a double semi-windup, Lenny Montana, 280-pound cowboy, will attempt to "bulldoze" Larry Hamilton, 230, of St. Joseph, Mo. The other match pits Frank Murdock of Texas, the Buffalo Bill of the wrestling game, against Babe Zaharias of Denver. Each weighs 225 pounds.

The first bout starts at 8:30 p.m.

There's been an upset a week in the Nebraska College Conference and this week was no exception as Wayne dumped previously top-rated Kearney 7-0.

The win strengthens Peru's bid for retention of its NCC crown, as it moved past Midland 25-7.

This week's top games will be Kearney at Wesleyan and Peru at Doane. Although both the Antelopes and the Bobcats will be favored, the home teams will have at least an outside chance of scoring an upset.

It will be more or less a homecoming for Marv Franklin, Kearney coach, Franklin, who assisted Plainsmen Mentor Roy Robertson last year, may be planning some surprises for Wesleyan.

He was present at Friday night's Wesleyan-Doane game that ended in a 13-13 tie. Franklin was having a phenomenal season until he ran into a previously unimpressive Wayne club last week.

The Peru-Doane game will also pit a veteran loop coach in the form of Al Wheeler against first year mentor Fran Nagle. The former Husker-T-quarterback has surprised the NCC faithful by fielding an aggressive club that placed Doane much higher in the loop standings than predicted in pre-season forecasts. In four loop games, only Hastings has been able to defeat the Tigers.

Peru, of course, will be shooting for its 20th straight victory and seventh of the year. Peru leads the nation's undefeated teams with the most wins.

Dana sitting on top of the Central Church Conference standing faces Tarkio for the second time this season, having won its first encounter with the Missouri school, 13-0.

Fairbury which appears to be the power of the 4-JC conference as it breezed through its game with Scottsbluff last week, will be host to McCook, the team that will promise to give Fairbury its roughest test for the title.

Coaches And Conference Bigwigs Like Bowl Pact

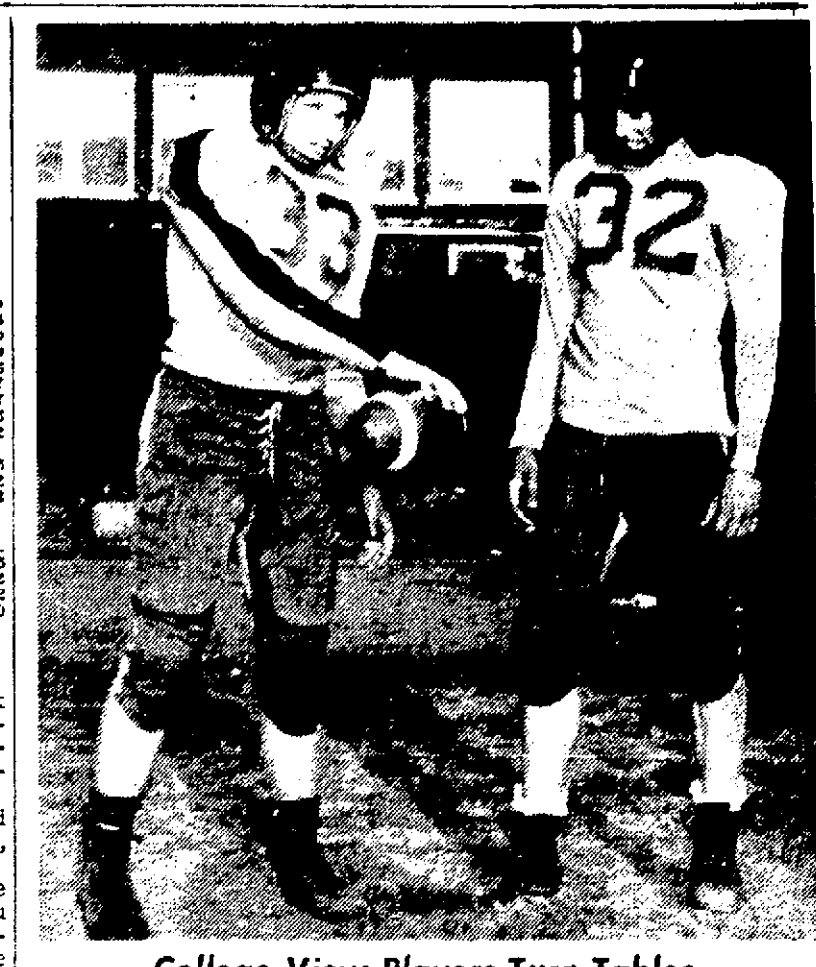

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Orange Bowl's two-year pact with the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast Conferences was praised by coaches and college officials Monday as a step toward taking some of the taint of commercialism off post-season football.

Under the agreement, the two conferences will supply the teams for the next two Orange Bowl games. Oklahoma and Maryland are favored to dominate the two circuits this season and meet here next New Year's Day in the first game under the pact.

ACC Commissioner Wallace Wade was enthusiastic over the agreement because "it takes out all the worry and some of the commercialism. The latter feature makes it acceptable to the faculty people."

The Big Seven will send its champion to the 1954 game. The ACC will have to vote on its representative because the conference was just recently organized and will not be able to determine a true champion through round-robin schedules for two years.

Kansas Coach Jules Sikes expressed pleasure over the two-year agreement and said "pros-

College View Players Turn Tables

These two College View football players just couldn't seem to get together to play on the same team in the same year. Bob Moffitt (left) was burned severely in a truck accident last year and couldn't play. This year, Paul Westbrook (right) fell victim to a leg injury in the Viewmen's game against Omaha Westside.

Glassford Lauds Bowl Agreement

Nebraska's Coach Bill Glassford termed the Big Seven-Atlantic Coast agreement to play in the Orange Bowl, "a very fine thing."

"It provides an incentive for the boys and will be compensation for the team that wins the championship. And it has a fine educational value and will give the boys a chance to see how the universities in other sections are operated," the coach added.

Of the $110,000 guarantee the Big Seven from the Orange Bowl, 20 per cent of the net will go to the team playing in the bowl. The other six members will share equally in the other 80 per cent.

The Downtown Merchants, defending champions in the Lincoln Pop Warner Midget Football League, can assure themselves of at least a share of the 1953 title by beating Northeast next Saturday night.

The Downtown-Northeast game is the first half of a twin bill at College View field. South Street and Roberts tangle in the finals. Only South Street still has a chance at the title.

Backs Hex Plainsmen; Macy Done

Coach Roy B. Robertson, faced with a new backfield problem Monday launched a new set of drills in an effort to patch up his weakened Plainsmen football team before next Saturday's Nebraska College Conference tussle with Kearney State Teachers College.

The Plainsmen lost their number one quarterback, Marvin Macy, in last Friday's homecoming game with Doane College, and may see only limited service from their top ball carrier, Cliff Kahl, also an injury victim in the homecoming fracas.

Macy with a shoulder separation, is done for the season. Doctors Monday said it would be 10 days before another examination would be made. Robertson indicated he would not use the Beatrice sophomore who has two full seasons of eligibility remaining.

Kahl aggravated an old injury on the first running play of the game, and was ineffective when he re-entered the fray. Robertson said a full report on Kahl's availability would come later in the week.

The Plainsmen mentor must now juggle his starting backfield considerably. Rolfe Wieggers remain at the quarterback slot, Ron Steele at one halfback and Sanford Nelson at fullback.

Patterson Wins
BROOKLYN (AP)—Undefeated Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn won a unanimous eight-round decision over Wes Bascom, East St. Louis, Ill., Monday night at the Eastern Parkway Arena before a crowd of 1,500. Patterson weighed 166½ and Bascom 175½.

SMU Boss Defies Jinx

DALLAS (AP)—Chalmers Woodward went against all traditions of coaching last week when he publicly predicted that his Southern Methodist university football team would beat Rice. He didn't hedge, he just said, "We'll win it."

The SMU team made a prophetic out of him as it licked Rice 12-7 with a touchdown in the final three minutes. For a time Woody himself thought he would have some explaining to do. SMU was backed up to its 2-yard line with Rice leading 7-6 and the clock showed 2:54 to go.

Frank Edwards broke through on a 92-yard run and that set up the winning touchdown. Woodward had defied the jinx of coaching that says a fellow must never express confidence in his team's ability to win, and gotten away with it.

It was just one of the many new things the chunky little man from tiny McPherson College in Kansas brought to football's big-time.

Woodward was hired as coach of SMU this year when Rusty Russell resigned after three years of heading the Mustangs and ending up without winning a Southwest Conference championship. Russell got tired of the criticism of the alumni.

First thing Woodward did was to install the split T formation at a school that never had used anything except the pig wing. Next he set out to put confidence in his team that it could win all its games. The Mustangs were actually cocky when they opened the season.

Cotton Sugar Bowls Unhurt

By The Associated Press

The president of the Mid-Winter Sports Association—sponsors of the Sugar Bowl—said Monday he didn't think the new Orange Bowl pact with the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast conferences would affect the Sugar Bowl.

Irwin P. Poche said, "My only reaction is that we don't like to see such tieups because it limits our sphere for the selection of teams. Ours is a longtime program. When things like this happen, we might not be able to get the number one team of the nation but we believe, year in and year out, we will come up with the best game."

Cotton Bowl officials say the Orange Bowl agreement will have no effect on the Cotton Bowl.

The president of the board of the Cotton Bowl, Otto Eisenlohr, said, "This agreement will make no particular difference to the Cotton Bowl. Our agreement has always worked out satisfactorily in the past and I see no reason why it shouldn't continue to do so."

58 Low Net Score At LCC Pro-Am

A low net team score of 29-58, compiled by the foursome of Jim Daugherty, Dick Russell, Ken Friend and Ed Axell, took low net honors in a pro-amateur tournament at Lincoln Country Club Monday.

Low gross team honors went to Dick Knight, Dick Irwin and John Demjen with a 33-61-63.

Low pros were Bunny Richards and Dick Knight with 67's and Dick Spangler Jr. and Dick Irwin took low amateur laurels with 72's.

Wills Terry, Yale halfback in 1884, who died in 1950, held the record for the longest football run on record—a total distance of 115 yards. The field then was 110 yards long.

OU Back Injured

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma football Coach Bud Wilkinson announced Monday his first-string left half, Tom Carroll, will be out three or four weeks because of an injury suffered in last Saturday's Kansas game.

The loss jolts the Sooners, whose backfield was just set last week for the first time this season.

Fans' Affection Sends Colts On Weeping Spree

BALTIMORE (AP)—A roaring crowd of about 2,500 fans moved many a burly football player to tears when it turned out late last night to greet the Baltimore Colts after their defeat in Green Bay, Wis.

"They should be throwing rotten eggs at us," sniffed one big grider as he saw the well-known thong at nearby Friendship International Airport.

A few hours earlier the Colts had been crushed 37-14 by Green Bay.

"Gee," said Guard Bill Lange, who had played for the Los Angeles Rams before joining the Colts, "if this had been L.A. we would be pelted with tomatoes."

Carl Taseff, defensive halfback, summed up the team's feeling with a question of wonder.

"What kind of a crowd would have been out here if we had won?"

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kiersman

Crime in London has decreased since they began using dogs on the Police Force, but it still seems a little unusual to report a burglary to an Airdale.

They seem to be on the best of terms with the dog. In fact, one of them has brought a letter from the dog to the police station.

I don't know what the leading word of crime is in London... some say making British pictures to show over here.

It's a non-controllable offense and makes me feel as if I should be a dog. The police are in a tough position.

But if dogs are the answer to crime we would suggest that they move the Kennel Club to the New York docks and untangle a few tough Tony Anastasias.

A dog may have to wait about a month before it can be a dog. It is a long time to wait for a dog.

Peace Preliminaries Set To Begin Monday

Reds To Meet U.S. Conferee

By the Associated Press
TOKYO (Tuesday) (AP)—The Communists Monday agreed to meet with a U.S. envoy next Monday at Panmunjom to arrange for the Korean peace conference, originally scheduled to begin Oct. 28.

But in accepting, the Communists in a note broadcast by Peiping Radio once more insisted on discussing which nations shall attend. This is the very issue that has balked all efforts to get the momentous sessions started.

A U.S. spokesman at the United Nations said the U.S. representative, Arthur Dean, would fly to Washington for conferences with Secretary of State Dulles and other top officials. The spokesman said Dean would leave Washington for Panmunjom Wednesday, Oct. 21, accompanied by half a dozen advisers. He said Dean would pick up others in Tokyo and Seoul.

The United States, after consulting its allies in the Korean War, sent the Communists a note last week proposing a meeting at Panmunjom to select a time and place for the peace conference.

U.S. Agrees Only to Russia
The U.S. note said the Allies would be ready to discuss the question of neutrals attending the peace conference "to the extent consistent with" previous decisions made by the United Nations.

The Communists want Russia, India, Pakistan, Indonesia, and Burma to attend. The United States would agree only to Russia, and then only if the Soviets were invited by Red China and North Korea. The United Nations backed the United States.

Thus it appeared likely that the Panmunjom meeting would bog down in an argument over neutral nation question. Meanwhile, the State Department in Washington, scotched London reports that foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France had a new plan

Older Women Find "New Look"

Modern Contour Facial Lotion
Amazing Help in Achieving Convincing Look of Youth

EVERY DAY, DECEPTIVELY YOUNG-LOOKING WOMEN are proving that one creamy, fragrant, vanishing lotion has shown the way to look years younger and lovelier than ever—in an incredibly short time.

This amazing lotion is called Remoldine and is made by Dorothy Gray. Its use requires only 3 minutes, twice a day. And it actually accomplishes results that formerly required two or more preparations.

Exclusive formula and treatment work 6 ways
Remoldine Counter Facial counteracts puffiness on jawline and under eyes; helps smooth crepey neck and lines on forehead, from nose to mouth. One exclusive ingredient makes skin "glow," while another helps prevent externally-caused blemishes. An exclusive softener, "Elfanol," is even milder than lanolin.

Remoldine contains Natural Estrogenic Hormones, too—to further help reduce the appearance of lines, wrinkles and give skin a youthfully moist look. (If you wish, it's available without Hormones.)

Remoldine is vanishing—ideal for use with your regular emollient cream, or with a new emollient cream... which is Part Two of the exciting Remoldine story, by Dorothy Gray.

A perfectly rounded program
Now, Dorothy Gray offers two new Remoldine preparations for older skin. One, called Softening Cleanser, is a liquid cleanser that works with hygienic thoroughness, yet unusual gentleness. A 6-ounce bottle sells for $1.50. The other, called Special Cream Concentrate, is a new emollient cream that combats dryness and guards a sensitive skin. The 2-ounce jar retails for $2.50.

You can buy all three Remoldine preparations in the new Remoldine Treatment Set, for $5—a $5.50 regular value.

Remoldine Counter Facial Lotion with Hormones comes in a 1 1/2-ounce Introductory Size—2.50. With or without Hormones—in the 4-ounce Regular Size—it costs $5. All prices plus 20% tax.
